

Connectors

The flow paths of water through a Source model are not always spatially explicit, but rather represented at a more generalised level to depict the sequence of flow using links, confluences and splitters. These connections can also have processing (eg. storage routing, groundwater interaction) and recording functionality enabled.

- Confluence node
- Splitter node
- Link Routing
- Pipe Junction node